Dear Mr. Leary:

Touche'. Or something like that.

Things should not be said in anger, and I was angry that day.

Your note -- and others I've received -- have given me second thoughts, and I'm willing to consider the case you make, although it raises some questions I'd like to hear debated. I even have an idea possibly for carrying the discussion forward, on a program Kuralt and I are doing this summer for CBS in prime time. Would you forward me your phone number so that I could call and talk to you about it?

Thanks for writing so calmly -- and for the Twain quote, which I'd never seen.

Regards,
